

State Recommends Replacement Of Bridge Shortway Portions Approved

Walter Airl Contents Of Letter

THE U.S. BUREAU of Public Roads has approved detailed locations for the eastern and western thirds of the proposed Keystone Shortway. Congressman Francis E. Walter reported yesterday.

Bertram D. Tallamy, federal highway administrator, advised Rep. Walter of the action in a letter which also reiterated the bureau's concurrence with the Pennsylvania Highways Department on the feasibility of building the Shortway.

The two sections for which detailed locations have been approved are from the vicinity of Lewisburg east to Stroudsburg and on to the New Jersey State line and from DuBois west to the Ohio line.

"The state is now studying detailed locations for the Shortway in the central part of the state," Tallamy told Rep. Walter. "When these studies are finished and found satisfactory by the bureau, they will be approved for finalizing the location across the entire state" from Stroudsburg to Sharon.

The federal official said that construction work "may proceed on the Keystone Shortway portion of the interstate system as desired by the state. As construction schedules are advanced they will be considered as to whether or not they will jeopardize the financing of the (Pennsylvania) Turnpike system."

"It is not expected, however, that the construction schedule which will be advanced by the state will do so," Tallamy observed.

Construction Request
The Keystone Shortway Assn., representing 30 counties across the middle of Pennsylvania, is asking that 42 miles of construction per year be authorized for the next seven years. This, the association insists, will allow completion of the Shortway by the 1965 target date.

In his letter to Congressman Walter, which was in reply to an inquiry regarding the Shortway, Tallamy recalled that "the State of Pennsylvania studied the engineering and economic aspects of that route and other possible east-west routes across Pennsylvania, in great detail."

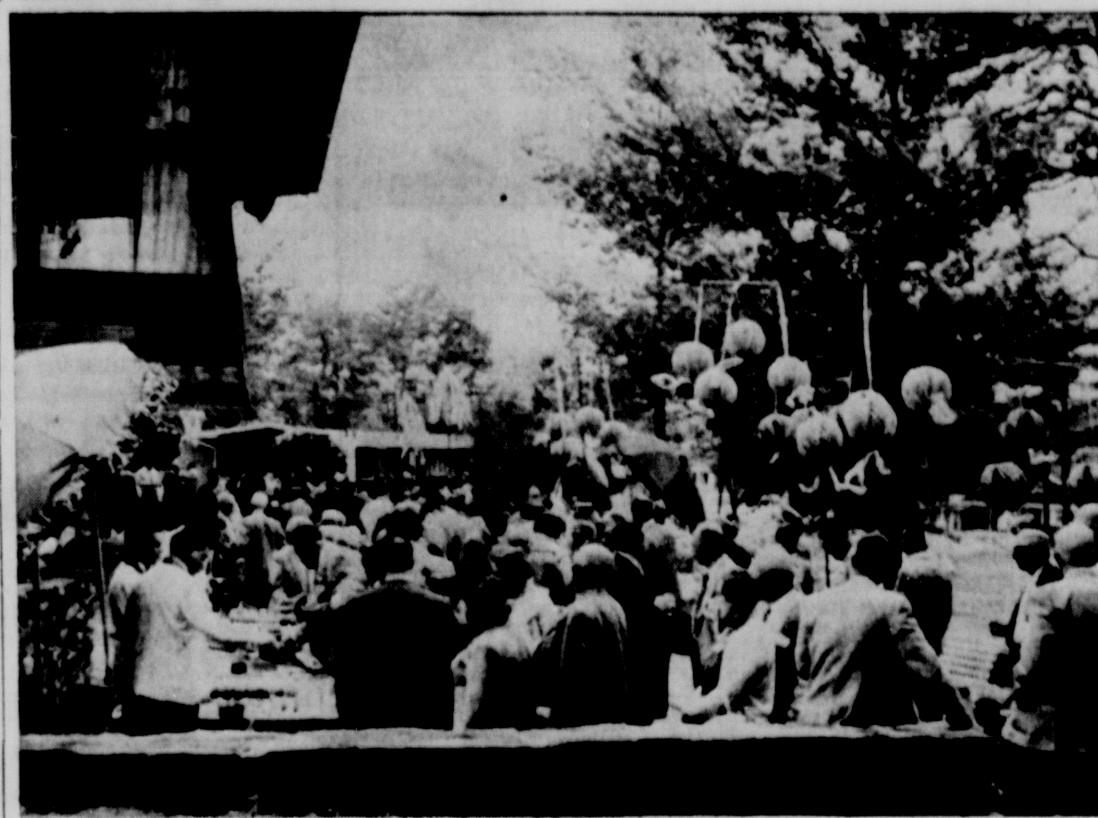

He added: "These studies were reviewed by the Bureau of Public Roads in all of its offices and it was determined, based on these studies, that the shortest and best route across the State of Pennsylvania to service inter-regional and local traffic needs was via the so-called Keystone Shortway."

In an obvious reference to Philadelphia's efforts to delay construction of the Shortway until Turnpike bonds were paid off, Tallamy observed:

"We are advised by the Department of Highways that by the time of the completion of this route such traffic as might be diverted from the Pennsylvania Turnpike would not jeopardize its financing."

"The bureau concurred in this position in view of the new interstate highway construction leading from the west, north, south and east, which will be connected to the Turnpike bringing huge volumes of traffic to that highway."

"Therefore, because of the inter-regional and local importance of the Keystone Shortway, it was approved by the bureau."

Three To Speak On Final Day

TAMIMENT—Three speakers will highlight today's closing sessions of the state convention of Pennsylvania Lion clubs held here.

Speaking at this morning's business session will be Monroe L. Nute, a past president, Lions International. This afternoon's business session speaker will be Conrad A. Falvello, an International Director.

Featured speaker at tonight's District Governors' Banquet will be Clarence L. Sturm, second-vice-president of Lions International.

Nute, who resides in Kennett Square, Pa., was elected president of Lions International in 1954. Prior to his election to office, he was a director for eight years, and consecutively, third, second, and first vice-presidents.

Chairmanship
His activities include chairmanship of the Red Cross, Community Chest, and State Cancer drives. A member of the National Board of the Boy Scouts of America, he is also a member of the Pennsylvania Assn. for the Blind.

The remainder of the morning session will be confined to introductions of district governors and committee reports.

Committees participating include: Sight Conservation, United Nations, Registration and the International Convention Committee.

Falvello, who will address this afternoon's session, was elected to the International Board of Directors two years ago at Miami. A Hazelton resident, he has held Lion offices from president of his local club to that of district governor.

Addressing conventionaires at the banquet will be Clarence Sturm, a native of Manawa, Wis. He was elected to his present office last June in San Francisco.

In addition to being a charter member of his home-town club, he holds the Extension and the Ambassador of Good Will Awards. Like speakers Nute and Falvello, he has held comparable offices in Lionism prior to becoming second-vice-president.

Yetter also quoted the highway official as saying the state reserved the right to make a change in Ramp C (that part of the interchange in dispute) when bids for the Thruway were sought.

James D. Morrissey Inc., low bidder on the first phase of the project, has moved some equipment on the site near Delaware Water Gap, but has not yet started construction.

Any change agreed upon in the approach to the borough of Water Gap for traffic moving north from the toll bridge would be incorporated in the contract, Yetter was advised.

Yetter also quoted the highway official as saying the state reserved the right to make a change in Ramp C (that part of the interchange in dispute) when bids for the Thruway were sought.

De Gaulle Meets With Cabinet

PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle held a Cabinet meeting yesterday in the crisp style of a military staff conference. He told the ministers of his decisions and saw them out in less than an hour. A minister described the atmosphere as Napoleonic.

De Gaulle also saw U. S. Ambassador Arthur Houghton, but without, according to the embassy, bringing up the subject of a De Gaulle-Eisenhower meeting.

Houghton's visit touched off rumors that the ambassador was trying to arrange such a meeting.

"There is not a word of truth in such talks," said an embassy spokesman. "The subject of such a meeting did not come up in the talks."

Spokesman

The spokesman said Houghton was flying home to see his son graduated from Harvard and that the trip had long been planned. He added that Houghton saw De Gaulle as a matter of courtesy before leaving.

Diplomatic sources said De Gaulle would be much too busy in Paris for the next few months to go to Washington. They said talks might be expected in the fall, especially if proposals for an East-West summit meeting materialize.

The embassy said Houghton will fly to Washington for a few hours on his U. S. visit but so far he has no appointment to see Eisenhower or Secretary of State Dulles.

British Prime Minister Macmillan, now in the United States, where he is conferring with Eisenhower, already has said he would like to meet with De Gaulle after his visit to America.

De Gaulle's Cabinet session lasted only 45 minutes. Aides said it was the shortest full dress session in the history of the Fourth Republic and apparently set a pattern that will be followed.

De Gaulle told his ministers the names of a group of noncontroversial politicians and technicians he picked to fill out the Cabinet ranks. The ministers approved his action and the session broke up.

"There was no discussion, no debate," said Information Minister Andre Malraux. "It was a session similar to those known in Napoleon's time as 'meeting on the formalities.'"

Civil Servant
Informed sources said the session was like a military staff meeting—but without use of wall maps.

De Gaulle turned to the French diplomatic mission to the Vatican to choose the top civilian aide to Gen. Raoul Salan, chief civilian and military commander in Algeria. The post went to Rene Broillet, minister-counselor at the Holy See.

Guy Lamassoure, a career civil servant, was appointed prefect of Corsica. That Mediterranean island, birthplace of Napoleon I, has been under insurgent control for weeks. Lamassoure's appointment is expected to restore the Paris government's authority there.

Registration

Registration yesterday boosted attendance figures to within 200 of a previous record set in Pittsburgh seven years ago. Expectations of a new record were still being expressed by officials.

"We are confident," remarked J. Joseph McCluskey, president of the Stroudsburg club, "that tomorrow we will surpass it (the 1951 record)." Added registration for voting will be the determining factor.

The three-day convention got underway Sunday night with an official opening session that included a necrology service honoring 317 Lions of this state who had died since last year's state level conference.

Prior to yesterday's district caucuses, the first of three key business sessions was held. Included in the agenda were welcoming addresses, introduction of Lion dignitaries and members of state council, and committee reports.

New Pressure On Shortway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Highways Administrator Bertram Tallamy was urged yesterday to ease up on construction of the proposed Keystone Shortway route in Pennsylvania.

"We are trying to prevent construction of the shortway route on a crash basis," Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth told newsmen after a two-hour conference with Tallamy.

Dilworth and a group of eastern Pennsylvania financiers and business executives said they were assured by Tallamy that the policy of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads is not to complete any "so-called freeway that would jeopardize the financing of a toll road."

The Keystone Shortway, already approved by the bureau for inclusion in the federal interstate highway network, would traverse Pennsylvania between Sharon and Stroudsburg.

Express Fear

Dilworth and others have expressed the fear that since it would be toll free it would harm revenues on the present Pennsylvania east-west main stem turnpike.

Also, Dilworth said, it was expected to Tallamy that completion of the shortway might funnel traffic from the west into the Port of New York instead of the Port of Philadelphia.

Dilworth said a major accomplishment at yesterday's meeting was that it was the "first time that Mr. Tallamy has been formally presented with the full facts on what the shortway could do to the turnpike and to Philadelphia if it is finished before turnpike-financing bonds are paid off."

He said he emphasized to Tallamy the importance of meeting the "tremendous highway needs of urban areas."

"That should come before trying to satisfy the curiosity of bears," Dilworth commented.

Report
Henderson Supple, co-chairman of the Greater Philadelphia Movement reported Tallamy said the proposed 300-mile long shortway would probably take as long to complete as the entire federal road building program—13 to 15 years—and that therefore it would be no threat to turnpike tolls until then.

House Passes Bill
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted swiftly yesterday to put up $665,770,000 to carry out the unemployment compensation extension voted by Congress last week.

Reformed Church To Hold Vote

BUCK HILL FALLS — The General Synod of the Reformed Church in America yesterday decided to hold a referendum vote on the ordination of women.

If two-thirds of the 45 classes districts approve and the 1959 General Synod approves, women would be eligible for ordination in 1962.

The Synod also voted to organize 25 congregations in 1958 to keep up with population changes.

Declaration
It approved a declaration calling for a curb on the testing of nuclear weapons which expresses "to the United Church of Christ in Japan the concern it shares for the special vulnerability of the Japanese nation to the reputedly damaging effect on radioactivity released by the experimental testing of bombs in areas surrounding its home land."

It also commended President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for their inspection of armaments.

RECOMMENDATION that a stone double-arch bridge on Legislative Route 45081 over Pocono Creek in Tannersville be replaced as a flood hazard has been made.

According to County Commission Chairman John R. Lesoine, the recommendation was made this past week by T. K. Rothermund, District Five engineer for the State Highways Department.

Lesoine told fellow commissioners yesterday morning that Rothermund's recommendation has been forwarded to the state highways department in Harrisburg.

Ike Opens Talks With Macmillan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan opened a series of talks yesterday with a 2½-hour session devoted to "every subject under the sun."

Macmillan, smiling broadly, left the White House shortly before 5:30 p. m.

He was immediately besieged by reporters.

Answering questions he told them: "We had a very nice talk about every subject under the sun."

Question
Macmillan was asked whether he and the President reached any tentative agreements.

"No, no," he replied. "This was nothing but an informal discussion."

The prime minister and the President met in the White House Cabinet Room. They were joined by a number of top aides and specialists.

They started off with a general discussion, but apparently switched a half hour later to specific talks about such key issues as U. S. missile bases for Britain.

Atomic - sharing was also considered a prime topic.

Flanking Eisenhower at the first of three days of talks were Secretary of State Dulles and two Dulles' aides—Asst. Secretary C. Burke Elbrick and Counselor G. Frederick Reinhardt.

Macmillan brought four helpers — British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia, Cabinet secretary Sir Norman Brook, Foreign Office Deputy under-secretary Sir Patrick Dean, and private secretary F. A. Bishop.

Standing by in the White House conference room were a number of top U. S. officials including Mansfield Sprague, assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs, and Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint staff.

Tipoff
The presence of these two was taken as a tipoff that the question of missile bases for Britain was under discussion.

The United States has agreed to set up a string of missile-launching sites, using intermediate range weapons, along Britain's east coast. Work on this is already under way.

Atomic matters loom large in Macmillan's mind also. The British have invested heavily in time and manpower in peaceful power uses of atomic energy. They frankly bank on U. S. help to keep their nuclear weapon guard up.

Legislation now before Congress would permit greater sharing with Britain of U. S. atomic weapons secrets.

TV Winnings Reach $248,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's all-time quiz show champion, Elfrida von Nardoff, easily pushed her winnings to $248,000 last night.

Miss Von Nardoff, 32, said she plans to continue on the NBC program, "Twenty One," as long as her "spirit holds out." She has quit her job as a New York personnel consultant to devote full time to the show.

Reply From Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower sent a reply yesterday to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's latest proposal on suspending atomic tests but the White House did not immediately release the text of the U. S. response.

RECOMMENDATION that a stone double-arch bridge on Legislative Route 45081 over Pocono Creek in Tannersville be replaced as a flood hazard has been made.

According to County Commission Chairman John R. Lesoine, the recommendation was made this past week by T. K. Rothermund, District Five engineer for the State Highways Department.

Lesoine told fellow commissioners yesterday morning that Rothermund's recommendation has been forwarded to the state highways department in Harrisburg.

The bridge is believed by local observers to be a contributing cause of flooding along the creek. During recent high water and heavy rainstorms, flooding has occurred along Route 611 which runs near Pocono Creek.

Area Tour
On Friday, May 9 a group of state and county officials met with Pocono Township supervisors. The group toured the Pocono Creek area in Tannersville including the bridge and a half-damaged weir (dam) upstream.

At that conference, Victor Caesar, bridge engineer for District Five, told officials that he would recommend to Rothermund that the bridge be replaced.

John Matso, district agent for the Department of Forests and Waters, said that the double-arch bridge is only about "40 percent" hydrologically efficient. This is far below the standard currently required by Forests and Waters.

Local officials are seeking replacement of the stone bridge with a modern steel-concrete structure capable of accommodating greater water flow on the stream.

Coupled with this construction, local officials would also like to see a further job of stream clearance done on the Pocono.

Major part of this would be demolition and removal of the remains of the upstream weir. It is more than a century old. At one time it served as a water-diversion source of supply for fire prevention in the township.

Township Officials
Recently township officials and County Commissioners agreed to cooperate in the laying of pipe to supply water for firefighting purposes. The water is stored in a pond at the front of the Pocono Township High School.

The township has agreed to lay the pipe. It was purchased by commissioners two weeks ago.

Last week the township began putting the pipe in.

In conference concerning the removal of the weir, Matso maintained that his department should not be asked to remove a stream obstruction which had been deliberately placed and which had never had the Department's or the Water and Power Resources Board's approval.

Commissioners pointed out that the weir had been built long before the Board came into existence.

In more recent discussion, Lesoine said, Matso has indicated he cannot "do anything on stream clearance" until figures showing damages in the area due to the 1955 flood are made available to him.

Lesoine said he had been unable to get the figures locally. He said that the Monroe County Civil Defense office does not have such data on hand.

Mrs. Catherine Miller, headquarters secretary at CD, is now attempting to get the information needed from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers office in Philadelphia, Lesoine said.

Matso has told local officials that the May 9 meeting was the "first step" in an overall study of possible flood protection measures along the Pocono Creek in the Tannersville region.

Three Questions Part Of Pageant

By Leonard Randolph
THREE QUESTIONS held a part of the key of the title "cuntains" in Saturday night's pageant at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

After the six girls had gone through the swimsuit contest, the modeling of their gowns and the talent competition, Tom Waring, master of ceremonies asked each of the girls, individually, the three questions.

Only the girl hearing the questions at the time knew what they were. The others stayed outside and out of hearing distance.

The questions and the answers given by the six girls, in the order of their appearance, were:

"What, in your opinion, is an ideal husband?"

Marilyn Jane Pettinato — "Well, he doesn't have to be handsome. He does have to have a sense of humor. He should be practical and get along with people."

Judith Fenton Whittenack — "He should be very understanding. Looks is not so important. He should be somebody who'll stick to you, when you're sick and when you're well; someone you don't have to pretend with. He should be of the same faith and you should go to church together. He should like children. A house is empty without children."

Jane Romani — "He should be faithful to his wife and make a good living for her. He should try to help her and his family. Marriage is a 75-75 proposition — each one has to give a little more than half."

Janice Wildrick — "I don't know. I think he should have a good education and he should like the same things I do. He should like music. (Miss Wildrick is a pianist and singer.)"

Genya Chaplinsky — "He should have great respect for his wife. He should cater to her every whim. . . . well, maybe not every whim. He must truly love his wife."

Zoe Machamer — "Oh, gracious! Well. . . . he should have understanding. There should be mutual understanding."

SURROUNDED—Gathered around Zoe Machamer, new "Miss Pocono Mountains," are: Arthur Pfeiffer and Bill Badger, judges; Mrs. Robert Miller, pageant coordinator; Anthony Sandone, judge and Tom Waring, master of ceremonies at Saturday night's show held at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

The second question: "What does the chance to become Miss Pennsylvania mean to you?"

Miss Pettinato — "It would give me a chance to continue my study of dramatic dancing."

Miss Whittenack — "Well, to tell you the truth, this is something I'm not really 'gung ho' for. It's nothing I'm doing for. . . . that I can't live without. But you do get some money. And I can think of some things I could do with that."

Miss Romani — "I think it would be a great honor."

Miss Wildrick — "It would allow me to go further in my music education."

Miss Chaplinsky — "It would be a great honor. . . . one of the most wonderful things that could happen to me."

Miss Machamer — "If I should become Miss Pennsylvania, I'd like to go on to medical school. . . . at the University of Pennsylvania or Temple. I'm going to take up obstetrics."

Third question: "What, in your opinion, is the true meaning of the word 'beauty'?"

Miss Pettinato — "Beauty comes from within. When someone thinks beautiful thoughts, there's beauty."

Miss Whittenack — "To me beauty is hundreds of things. . . . the sky. . . . the trees after a rain when they look as though light were shining on them even if there is no sunlight. . . . a baby's smile. . . . a mother's glance at her child. It's everywhere if you look for it."

Miss Romani — "I don't feel beauty is only shown by the skin. . . . It's the true expression of one's self in everything they do. . . . and in trying to get along with others."

Miss Wildrick — "It's something that has color. . . . anything with brilliance. . . . that stirs you and makes you notice it. . . ."

Miss Chaplinsky — "Well, it's not really facial at all. It's how a person acts toward other people. . . . if a person is really sincere toward other people."

Miss Machamer — "It's not just what you see in a person. It's deeper than that. It's in a person's personality and character. You see beauty in things you only get to know from being with people and seeing them often."

Hamblin
Graduates
At Lehigh

DANIEL N. HAMBLIN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hamblin, Swiftwater, was awarded the bachelor of science degree in business administration at Lehigh University yesterday.

Hamblin sang in the Lehigh glee club and with the Lehigh Cliff Clefs during his four years at Lehigh. He participated in the University Music Festival and served as its financial manager.

Treasurer of his dormitory, he was a member of the Lehigh Accounting Society. He has been accepted for employment by Du Pont in Wilmington, Del.

Hamblin was among the 403 Lehigh University seniors who received degrees at the 90th University Day commencement exercises in Grace Hall.

Address

Frederick R. Kappel, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., delivered the commencement address and received the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Degrees were conferred by Dr. Martin D. Whitaker, president of the university.

Also receiving the honorary degree of doctor of laws was Robert E. McMath, financial vice-president of the Bethlehem Steel Corp.

The honorary degree of doctor of engineering was conferred upon Solomon C. Hollister, dean of engineering, Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.; and Raymond Blattenberger, Public Printer, United States Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C.

Masters degrees were granted to 83 and nine doctor of philosophy degrees were awarded to graduate students.

Military Pay
Hike Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has asked Congress for an extra $590,023,000 to help finance increases in military pay.

He requested the money for the fiscal year starting July 1. Eisenhower signed a military pay increase bill on May 20. The increases went into effect last Sunday.

For generations, people have depended on pharmacists to supply them with medicines and health-aids. Our required knowledge protects against improper use.

Unfortunately, desire for greater profits is influencing supermarkets, variety stores, and even door-to-door salesmen to sell medicines and health-aids, despite their lack of knowledge.

Since the prices we pharmacists charge are the same, your choice to secure all medicines and health-aids from us is wise. Without that business, which helps reduce overhead costs, all drug stores would have to increase prescription prices.

The Meyers Antique Store building, near Cherry Creek, is being refurbished with a covering of wide weatherboards painted white, and metal window strips. The huge red sign board on the south is being removed.

Valid arguments for a sane reappraisal of our total tax structure are offered in an editorial which appeared last week in The Wall Street Journal.

What we need, the paper says, is not more whimsical tinkering with this tax system—indeed, most of the distortion we now have are the results of years of tinkering, patching and jerry-building. We even have "emergency" taxes left over from World War One.

What we ought to have from the Administration and from Congress, the Journal declares, is a re-examination of our total tax structure and its reform into some sensible shape.

"Were the government to do so, it could readily find itself gaining more revenue from rates less burdensome," in the paper's opinion.

It rejects the talk of tinkering with the tax laws as an "anti-recession" measure because it would likely increase rather than decrease the distortions in our tax laws.

Taxes play a vital role in any nation's economic well being. The size of the tax load itself can be a depressant or a stimulant.

When government (federal and local) takes the value of one-third of people's production to spend for what are largely non-productive purposes, as at present, it takes no great mathe-matician to see the economic loss.

This tax money is money earned by the people but which they cannot spend for food, clothing, housing and other economic goods. Taxes may be necessary for other reasons—national defense, for example—but they do not represent an economic "good."

The first concern of Congress, according to the Journal, is to reduce the total tax load by cutting down on government spending.

Equally important, in the paper's opinion, is revamping of what it calls the lop-sided Internal Revenue Code. This law acts as an economic depressant by imposing progressively stiffer taxes on earnings above a meager level.

For individuals, the steeply graduated rates mean in effect less for more work. They severely restrict capital formation and the kind of spending necessary to nourish prosperity—spending that is above that for basic necessities.

The taxes on business, where excise rates are in senseless disarray and depreciation schedules defy all logic, are even more depressant, though perhaps more subtly so, the Journal points out.

Regardless of the immediate concern over the recession, it's obvious that a real reform in our tax structure is long overdue. It should not be in haste, however, but with serious deliberation.

State Shows Net Gain

Recession or no, says a release from a national truck transit company, people in this country are still moving in record numbers.

A recent survey shows that while there has been an over-all increase in interstate moving so far this year, there has been a reduction in the general exodus from New York and Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania showed a drop of 1.2 per cent. At the same time movements into the state have increased 2.6 per cent.

These figures reflect a healthy condition in Pennsylvania. We must be growing. Now all we need to do is find jobs, better housing and more schools for our expanding population.

The Pennsylvania Story

Highway News Censored

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — The local "political commissar" system condoned in field operations of the State Department of Highways has some what of a parallel in the central office of the department here in Harrisburg.

Whereas under the commissar system now in vogue in some areas of the state where Democratic county chairmen hold more authority over local departmental administration than local departmental representatives themselves, the mess at headquarters on Capitol Hill in one respect at least is equally "impracticable."

It smacks as much of the goon system as the political back superiority maintained by the political commissars in the field.

In departmental headquarters this centers basically around what might be termed a "preferential censorship" curtain draped around departmental activities by a so-called departmental "public relations" section.

Significant point: In light of the Leader Administration's continually professed endorsement of the public "right-to-know" laws hammered through the past session of the Legislature by Pennsylvania's newspapers — the clumsy attempt at "right-not-to-know" practiced by the administration-controlled Department of Highways is a sorry sequel to the Governor's public utterances.

In a nutshell the preferential censorship apparently condoned by the administration insofar as the Department of Highways is concerned can be summed up thusly:

What the department wants the public to know is given freely, eagerly, in fact reams of mimeographed flip-flap proclaiming strictly the positive side of any departmental activity smothered Capitol Hill newsmen daily.

What newsmen want to know that has nothing to do with partisan flip-flap — is something else. It is here that the department, naively attempts to drop its paper curtain of censorship in denying the public its right to know what is happening with its tax paid dollars and its delegated responsibility and authority.

The department's so-called "public relations" section is comparable to the political commissar system in vogue in the field. There is one major difference.

In the field, department employees are under the brass-knuckled fist of ash-vested old pols and departmental administrative officers. Opposition or circumvention ends at that point.

With veteran newsmen this point is where the story begins. Political paps are meaningless. Partisan considerations are so much hush. That is the free press. This is the public's right to know. But this is where the department's "public relations" section — more appropriately perhaps, "censorship section" — attempts to wave its rusty public-slapping wand.

Significantly, the department's censorship section is overlorded by "PR specialists" new to Capitol Hill. They moved into their self-important jobs only some three years ago.

They haven't learned that veteran newsmen who cover Capitol Hill get their story — in spite of such censorship efforts.

In our own case, we've been covering the Capitol Hill beat for nearly 20 years. Like other veteran Capitol Hill newsmen we long ago established "contacts" within key state agencies. When we want a story, we get it in spite of foppish political censorship attempts.

All of this however is not the really important point. What is important is the attempt to deny the citizens of Pennsylvania their constitutional right to know. Inadvertency is one thing—deliberacy is another.

George Sokolsky Says...

DeGaulle Revolution

Since 1945, the entire world has been in a state of revolution. This has not only been a political revolution, but a social and economic revolution—a movement away from Western Europe and America, from Calvinistic capitalism to socialism in a variety of forms.

This revolution has been sufficiently in progress to require understanding because it influences and affects every country and the United States more than any other country.

A revolution always starts as a protest against some institution. The French Revolution of 1789 was a revolt against the decaying institutions of feudalism; the Russian Revolution of 1917 started as a revolt against a decadent autocracy.

The Turkish Revolution of 1908 which ultimately brought about Kemal's reforms was a revolt against the degrading nature of the Sultanate and its demoralizing effect on the people; the Chinese revolutions of 1911, 1915, and 1925 were declarations of opposition to foreign domination over a great people.

The Meiji Revolution in Japan of 1868 was a revolt against the obscurantism of the Shogunate. The American Revolution of 1775 comes down to the right of a people to a government of its own choice and therefore was a protest against taxation and government without representation.

Not By Masses
And so it has gone throughout the history of man. No revolution ever is made by the masses of the people. It is either a method of an element in the ruling class to use the masses to change the form of government or the structure of government as, for instance, when the bankers and large industrialists of Germany supported Hitler with the object of overthrowing the Third Reich, or it is a product of the intellectuals as was the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917.

What is the nature of the de Gaulle Revolution? It really started with a military coup d'etat in Algeria in the course of which a large section of the army manifested its protest against a decaying parliamentary system of government which since 1946 was steadily leading France to suicide.

If the Army and Navy and Air Force joined together, it could have produced a civil war in France which might have set the whole world on fire. We are not yet free from this danger.

Charles de Gaulle entered politics to hold France in tutelage for a short period during which he might rewrite the Constitution, destroy multiple parties, eliminate proportional representation and restore a responsible parliamentary system of government in which the Executive and Legislative branches of government are separated, as they are in the United States.

There is no record in history of a people being held in tutelage except by a dictatorial political party such as the Kuomintang in China, the Communists in Russia, or by a dictatorial individual such as Franco in Spain. De Gaulle therefore offers to do something new and different for which he gives himself the short period of six months.

De Gaulle faces five pressures which at this moment seem insuperable. Pressure No. 1 is from the Right, from those who would reject parliamentarism altogether and who would establish a dictatorship; pressure No. 2 is from the Left, the Communists who must sooner or later attempt to replace de Gaulle by a Communist regime.

Pressure No. 3 is from the military forces which will find de Gaulle too slow in achieving their objective which is the restoration of France's prestige in the world; pressure No. 4 is from the United States which will insist that France remain in NATO; pressure No. 5 is from Soviet Russia which will insist that de Gaulle leave NATO.

These pressures will increase as the six months' period will approach its close and de Gaulle will demand and take more time. At that point, he will be accused of being a Louis Philippe, a General Boulanger and there are bound to be barricades.

October then is the month when the first stage of this revolution in France should terminate and another stage be entered upon. What the next stage will be, no one can say now, but it must be in the minds of such men as Soustelle and Duclos, to say nothing of Mendes-France who still has a role to play.

Revolutions do not move according to any schedule. They are a series of explosions, each explosion setting off many chain reactions.

Jim Riley Says:

Poconos Ready For State Pageant

Zoe Machamer, recently "Miss Signal Depot," but presently "Miss Pocono Mountains," will soon compete for the title of "Miss Pennsylvania." I don't believe a single person at the "Miss Pocono Mountains" pageant could have serious quarrel with the selection of the beauty queen, although she received plenty of competition from Miss Judith Whitenack, a freshman at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Judith was a very close second in the pageant and won many friends by the outstanding sportsmanship she displayed when Zoe was named the winner. Judith clapped loudest and cheered longest for the victor.

Miss Machamer's victory came as no surprise to Clyde Burke, information officer at Tobyhanna Signal Depot. Clyde predicted last winter that Zoe would be the winner.

"Miss Pocono Mountains" is a beauty, as anyone can see, but her talent with a violin clinched the title. She played beautifully, even though her bow broke late in the solo.

Even though this accident failed to halt her successful bid, the Monroe County resident quickly presented the highest prize praise for Wallace Hornbrook, her accompanist. She claims that Walter's great work on the piano saved the day after the accident.

Miss Pocono Mountains will be a busy girl the next few weeks, too busy to give much time to her job as cashier at the cafeteria at the Signal Depot.

If successful in her quest for "Miss Pennsylvania," Zoe will receive money for scholarships and will represent the Keystone state in the "Miss America" pageant in Atlantic City.

This is a dream for most girls, although Zoe is still a long way from the state title. But, hope springs stronger this year than ever before, as "Miss Pocono Mountains" was particularly strong in the talent division.

This column isn't predicting a victory in the state competition, but it does feel that this year's entry has a real opportunity to win.

The state contest will be another challenge for Zoe, a girl who is used to meeting and winning over challenges.

A student enroute to the title of "obstetrician" meets all sorts of challenges and must face each squarely.

The quest of "Miss Pennsylvania" is certainly a challenge, and I'm sure the Pocono Pines resident will meet it squarely.

I believe the Pocono Mountains will be heard from in state competition. West Chester on June 19, 20 and 21.

Maine Being Wooed

Washington — That old political adage, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation," is especially significant this year.

This is the last time Maine voters will go to the polls in September. Henceforth, under a new law, they will do so in November, the same as the rest of the country.

And the passing of this famed early ballot is being dramatized by an unusual clash between two headline political foes.

Vice President Richard Nixon on Speaker Sam Rayburn are going to Maine to fire the opening salvos in its eventful Sept. 8 election for state and congressional offices.

Maine's primary is June 16. A few days later, Nixon and Rayburn start the turbulent battle for the state.

Rayburn will begin the hostilities on June 21, with an address at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner at Rockland. He will particularly urge Gov. Edmund Muskie's election to the Senate.

The veteran House leader is also making no secret of his intention to take some shots at Nixon.

"I'm going to leave some very tough ground for him to plow when he gets up there," Rayburn is telling friends. "Maine's industry and agriculture are in a bad way, and I'm going to tell those good people the reasons for that."

The Vice President speaks on June 26, at the Republican convention in Portland. He will strongly boost Sen. Frederick Payne for re-election.

Good Evening Ladies!
By Ken Duval
My light-sleeping skepticism has been awakened by the present campaign, being waged in print and on the rostrums of the nation, against sex.

It seems to me that too many do-gooders who know too little about the subject have thrown themselves into the fray. They give me the impression that they are abolitionists rather than genuine reformers.

It is quite obvious that we are, at least temporarily, far too absorbed with sex and that the whole matter has gotten out of hand. But the correction of this condition is a matter for the experts, not for the dilettantes. Too many invaders in this field seem to think that sex is the whole sum and substance of sin, meanwhile overlooking the many other palpable immoralities that cry out for action.

Business, politics and just every day human relations are soaked with the sins of lying, conniving, cheating and downright cruelties. Throat-slitting has become a fine art. This, to me, is sinful, but of course not nearly so interesting to the reformer.

Naturally, the young are on the receiving end of this sonorous tirade, since they have few means of striking back. Also, the subject requires little research. You just say, pompously, that youth is going to hell in a handbasket and all the sin-soaked adults cluck their tongues and say how right you are.

Sexual exploration and experimentation among the young always has gone on and always will, and any old fuddy who tries to tell me it wasn't like that in his, or her, youth will get the back of my hand.

Opposite View Taken
Much of this can be blamed on the fact that the oldsters make such a fuss about the matter in exactly the wrong way, denouncing and laying down prohibitions that they arouse the curiosity of the young who are inclined to believe that anything old bunnies rant against as horrible must, ipso facto, be pretty interesting.

Someday, when reason takes over, a means will be devised to give effectual sex education to the young that will put the subject in proper light and materially cut down the incidence of juvenile casualty.

But, first, it will be necessary to develop adult teachers who themselves know far more about the subject than the average adult does now. The sexual ignorance of most grownups is appalling.

I recommend to these potential teachers, if any, the brief lecture given a cub reporter by the late Josiah Mason Ward, erstwhile city editor of the Denver Post. When the cub brought Josiah a report of some scandalous goings-on among the adult elite of the city, the old man delivered himself as follows:

"Son, this thing has been going on for thousands of years, maybe millions. You may write books attacking it; you may create plays condemning it; you may call out the armies of the Lord and even of the United States government, to suppress it — but, son, mark my word, you will never succeed in making it unpopular with the masses."

Sex is like dynamite — a very useful thing when properly handled, but carelessness can bring disaster. This fact would impress the young to greater degree if adults had more respect for it.

and vigorously defend the business and farm policies of the Administration. Nixon will also frankly tell the Maine GOP that their September election is an important test for the party as a whole.

Other Republican and Democratic notables are lined up to campaign in the state.

The GOP lists include House Leader Joseph Martin, Mass.; Senator George Aiken, Vt., senior Republican member of the Agriculture Committee; Senator Andrew Schoepel, Kan., head of the Senate GOP Campaign Committee; Interior Secretary Fred Seaton; and Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks.

Topping the Democratic campaigners are Senator Jack Kennedy, Mass.; Senator Estes Kefauver, Tenn., and former Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan.

GOP Political — Former White House disarmament adviser Harold Stassen's recent resounding primary defeat for governor of Pennsylvania has not dampened his political ambitions. He is now eying Philadelphia's mayoralty election.

The one-time Minnesota governor has dropped hints to friends that he is considering challenging Democratic Mayor Richardson Dilworth in 1959.

Nevada Republican National Committeeman Edward Converse is flatly telling state leaders that Sen. George Malone has full White House support for re-election despite his opposition to the President's foreign aid bill and reciprocal trade measure. Says Converse, "Malone is assured of backing by the President for another term. And I think it's also virtually certain that Vice President Nixon will come to Nevada to campaign for Malone."

Choice of Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-Vt.) as his successor is Rep. Winston Prouty, serving his fourth term in Congress. Flanders, who is 77, is quitting voluntarily after 12 years in the Senate.

Kansas is rocking from former Gov. Alf Landon's blast at the state's two Republican senators, Andrew Schoepel and Frank Carlson. The 1936 GOP presidential candidate denounced them for "flagrantly disregarding their obligations and blocking the wheels of justice by dillying over the appointment of a successor to the late Federal Judge Arthur M. Lott."

Schoepel and Carlson have refused to disclose whom they favor for this vacancy. Landon is charging they secretly were backing former Gov. Edward Arn, who Landon is vigorously against.

New Mexico Republican Chairman F. P. Llewellyn is boiling mad at the appointment of Robert McKinney, Santa Fe Democrat, as U.S. delegate to the International Atomic Energy Agency, and is publicly saying that's going to cost the GOP National Committee a $17,500 campaign contribution. Declares Llewellyn, "I telegraphed Sherman Adams protesting this appointment. All I got was one of those form replies. Now the National Committee wants its share of our Lincoln Day dinner proceeds. It's been our practice to give 50 percent to the committee. But we can't afford that this year. We're going to keep the $17,500 for our own campaign."

New York Firemen To March In Four-County Parade

AN ORGANIZATION with a lot of friends in Monroe County will be represented in the parade next Saturday, June 21, which will mark the close of the Four-County Firemen's Assn. convention in East Stroudsburg.

The Valley Stream, Long Island, Fire Department will have 90 of its members, its band and old timers in the parade.

The company, along with several other departments from Long Island, made several trips to East Stroudsburg during the 1955 flood, carrying thousands of pounds of food and clothing. The food was eventually distributed among flood-stricken residents by Acme Hose Co., the host department for the convention.

Judges for the beauty pageant, equipment and parade were announced last night.

Ernest McNeely, Arthur Widmer and Sterling Strauser will judge the beauty pageant and floats entered in the parade.

Fire Chief John Schweder of Bethlehem and Michael Gordon of Philadelphia, fire and safety inspector for the Colonial Safety Co., will judge equipment and will be joined by Paul Bartholomew of East Stroudsburg for the parade judging.

Pioneer Of Water Gap Succumbs

DELAWARE WATER GAP—Word has been received here of the death, June 2 at Columbia, Conn., of Mrs. Lewis Lipman, who was in her late eighties.

Mrs. Lipman was the former Theodora Brodhead, a member of the pioneer family of Water Gap. She was the daughter of Theodore and Emma Howe Brodhead.

Long Chase
Her father was killed shortly before her birth when he and other men were hunting the bandits who had robbed the old Brainerd House, then standing on Main St. The night-time chase led up over Mt. Minni. Brodhead's death stopped the search for the robbers.

Mrs. Lipman spent her married life in Philadelphia and the past few years with a niece, Mrs. Herbert Tappan of Columbia, Conn. More than a year ago, she fell and broke her hip; but recovered and was able to walk again.

A few weeks ago as she stood up and turned to look at something, the other hip was fractured. She never recovered from the shock or knew what had happened. Funeral services were held in Connecticut.

Kunkletown Men Retire From Posts

KUNKLETOWN — Claude A. Heiney, 68, and Reuben A. Smith, 66, both of Kunkletown, have retired as conductors for the Chestnut Ridge Railroad Co., Palmyerton.

Heiney joined the company in 1909 as a laborer. He was promoted to conductor one year later. Smith started with the railroad in 1915 as a repairman and became a conductor four years later.

Neither missed a scheduled day's work until the record-breaking snowfall of Feb. 15. They almost missed a shift in 1936 because of a heavy snowfall, when it took them nearly 12 hours to get to and from work.

Commissioner
Smith was a Monroe County jury commissioner for two years before he became a railroader. He was born in Wind Gap, a son of the late James and Ellen Smith.

He is the father of two children, Mrs. Ralph Frantz, Palmyerton RD, and Robert R. Smith, Kunkletown, and the grandfather of four.

Heiney is a son of the late Peter and Lucinda Heiney, of Kunkletown. He and his wife recently celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary.

They have two children, Mamie, at home, and Horace Lewis, Palmyerton, and two grandchildren.

'Wonderland' At Program

By Don Allen

"LEE-AL'S WINTER Wonderland," believed to be the only display of its type in the world, will be shown at Memorial Stadium, East Stroudsburg, during the entire week of the Four-County Firemen's Assn. convention, it was announced last night.

The exhibit is housed in a 10 by 50 foot specially designed and air conditioned trailer.

It was assembled by Al Urosovich of Freeland and Lee Jones of White Haven and is the idea of Jones, White Haven restaurateur, widely known for the Christmas season train displays he has erected for the past 25 years.

It represents an investment of at least $20,000 by the two men.

The huge trailer is covered on all four sides with striking snow and winter scene painted murals, designed by Urosovich and Jones, and painted free-hand by Mike Novotnak of Jeddo.

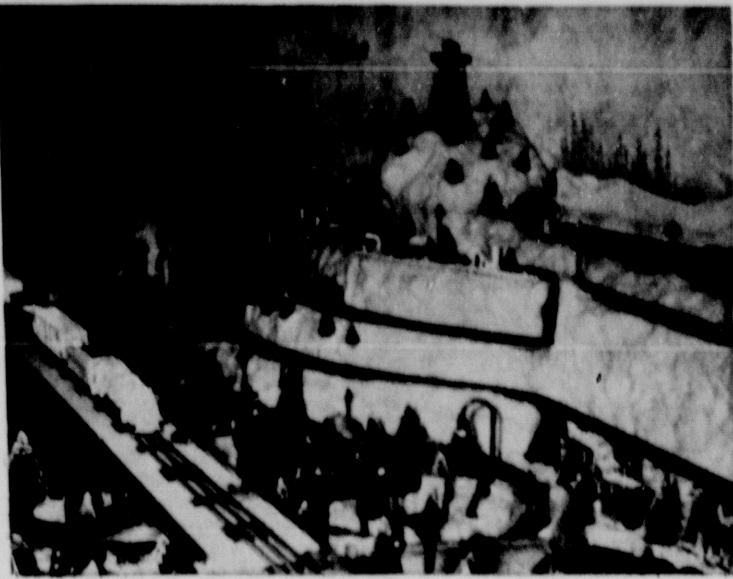

Inside the trailer, stretching for almost 35 feet, is an array of trains, lights, tunnels, houses, cars, trees, mountain scenes, alpine skiers, all in miniature and made to scale, with many of the parts moving.

There are 13 trains in all, including a trolley, all on separate tracks. The trains represent every conceivable type and have more than 100 cars, representing both the old and modern in railroading.

The trains operate over more than 10,000 sections of track and through 25 tunnel entrances in the mountain scene layout.

Nearly 1,000 feet of wire is employed to supply current to the trains and make connections with the nine transformers on the control panel at the front of the trailer.

In addition to the trains, there are beacon lights, floodlights, crossing gates, blinkers and 250

Report Cards For Teachers

WAKAYAMA, Japan — about 100,000 kids in southern Japan got a holiday yesterday, and for an unheard-of reason.

Teachers are hopping mad because of a new-fangled system of report cards—report cards for teachers, not pupils. So the teachers walked out in a strike.

Hamilton Fills Board Post

SCIOTA — Hamilton Township School Board last night voted unanimously to appoint Mrs. Jerry Stulgaitis of Stroudsburg RD 1 to fill the unexpired term of her husband.

Because Stulgaitis is a member of the Stroud Union teaching faculty he must resign his post on the board or give up his teaching job. He submitted his resignation from the board last night. Motion to approve Mrs. Stulgaitis as the new board member was made by Clyde Hahn and seconded by Asa Hoffner.

Mrs. Stulgaitis has five-and-a-half years to serve on the board.

CROWE Insurance Agency presents its WEEKLY INSURANCE LETTER

Dear Friends,

What's your specialty?

When I was a kid, it seemed a man had to know a little bit about almost everything. He needed to be at the very least a pretty fair farmer, carpenter, mason, weatherman, veterinarian, mechanic, and bookkeeper.

But nowadays, we're each better off to stick to our own specialty—and call on other specialists when we need them. We get in touch with a professional builder when we want a new house—and we see a doctor about anything that concerns our health.

The same sound reasoning applies when you—as a home owner, car owner or businessman—want reliable insurance protection. Talk with a specialist in insurance—a man with the training and experience to tell you which insurance company will give you the best all-around protection for your money.

Insurance—for cars, homes and business—is our specialty. We'll be glad to help you get the right insurance. Just give us a call.

Sincerely,

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

If there is anything more contagious than childhood diseases, it is the matter of ideas. Well, maybe ideas is too dignified a word for the rash of "idiot" jokes, the host of "handies", or some of the whooping and hollering that goes on under the guise of humor.

But take the idea of Miss Pocono Mountains and her talents and it doesn't take the neighborhood youngsters more than two days to whip up a talent show of their own.

Somebody uses cherries instead of pineapple in upside-down cake, and cherry upside-down cake is served at half a dozen bridge clubs.

One organization has a sample fair and four or five others promptly follow suit. Miss Trip-o-Europe reluctantly consents to tell one club about her trip, and before she's had a chance to catch her breath, she's booked up solid for the winter.

Fashion fads are equally catching. Take the matter of shoes-to-match your dresses. There's nothing like them to give a simple frock that ensemble feeling; but, as many a woman has observed wistfully, there's also nothing like them for wrecking the one-pair-of-dress-shoes-to-a-summer budget either.

So you can thank Madalyn Maloney for bringing back the idea from New York and me for trying it out. Seems the models, who have to provide their own outfits get an extra swatch of the material of their dresses, cut the material to fit the vamps of their clear plastic slippers, wrap it around the ball of their foot, fasten it with masking tape, and put on their slippers—and presto, a new pair for every dress.

It works, too, even without the masking tape. And it's a wonderful idea for the material you cut off from last year's dresses to bring them a little nearer this year's hemline.

Martyr's Unselfishness May Be Wasted Effort

By Annie Haywood

Whenever I hear the words, "She's just too unselfish for her own good," I shudder involuntarily, for they usually describe a woman who is either a troublemaker or a martyr.

In many volunteer organizations, there are such women. They work virtuously and hard, boss everybody around, head up "cliques" and tell people off for their own good. They can ruin morale and ruffle dispositions better and faster than anything else I know.

In Families

This type is found in many families, too. They are the martyrs who complain that nobody appreciates them in spite of their many sacrifices and they succeed in giving everybody else an unjustified guilt complex.

For years, I used to think that such women were just plain horrible. But as I got older and, I like to think, wiser, I learned that nobody is really bad. When they do seemingly bad things, there is always a reason. Also, I found it easy, as well as more compassionate, to look for the reason.

As a rule, these women need to feel needed, but are aiming to get this feeling by directing their energies into the wrong channels.

Need To Be Useful

All of us need to feel needed, to be useful members of the human race. If we direct our energies along the lines of our true abilities and interests, we will achieve this feeling the right way. But if we channel our energies along the wrong lines, doing things we do not enjoy and are not good at, we become querulous, irritating, troublemaking martyrs.

First Graders Learn About Life The Hard Way

Sometimes you just can't win—but it's a hard lesson to learn in first grade. Two pupils in Miss Sue Rockefeller's room in the elementary school on North Courtland Street had managed to keep their record of perfect attendance intact all year long.

Through snow, sleet, ice and rain, in fair days and foul, Anna LaBar and Helena Gromadin were in their places —, and as the year wore on, they became the only pupils in the room to manage that.

Up until the last week of school, that is. On Tuesday with three days to go, Anna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles LaBar, of 183 Grove St., got the measles which ended her bid for perfection.

Helena Gromadin, who lives at 161 Lenox Ave., made it through Thursday, when after school she was struck by a car and spent the last day of school in the hospital with a broken arm.

Fetherman Praised By Commission

FLOYDE E. FETHERMAN, Stroudsburg's fourth ward tax assessor got high praise from Monroe County Commissioners yesterday morning.

Commissioners were commenting on Fetherman's time sheet or work sheet. Assessors are required by law to turn such itemized sheets over to the chief assessor.

The chief assessor then refers them to the Commissioners. It is the job of Commissioners to review the sheets and approve payment of them. Assessors are paid by the hour.

Fetherman's report was a minutely-detailed account of his activities on assessment records during four days of the previous month.

Comment
After looking the sheet over, Commission Chairman John Lesoine commented that it was a "fine one." W. Adolph Rake, another Commission member, said he agreed.

Commissioner Willard Quick said it was "as good a report sheet as any that ever came in to this office."

Quick went on to recommend that the Fetherman record be referred to Chief Assessor George Brands as "a model of what we expect assessors to do in the future."

OFF THE RECORD

By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

UNLESS A QUICK movement comes about, the Monroe Scholastic Baseball League will have three schools sharing the championships this year.

At this writing, the league is officially over, with Pocono Twp. and Polk having 7-2 records each, and Chestnuthill, 6-2, with a game to be made up.

As of Sunday, Polk and Chestnuthill were officially out of school, while Pocono Twp. continues through next week.

An attempt was made to get a playoff going between the three schools but graduation exercises and other final week scholastic duties made it almost impossible to get in the games.

A last ditch bid to break the "three-way" knot this week, but according to one official it is almost a fruitless try.

Now we've heard 'em all.

At Sunday's Strouds and Martins Creek Blue Mountain game plate umpire Liberto and the Creekers bench got in a squabble over ball and strike calls.

Liberto went over to warn one of the Creekers that he would toss the player out of the game if more "talk" came his way.

In the meantime, Olympic (Patch) Pacholi, Martins Creek manager who was coaching at first base, intervened, and questioned the umpire's decision to go to the Creekers bench.

Liberto explained that a certain player was yelling at him. "Patch," never one at a loss for words, said, "How do you (umpire) know he was yelling at you?" The arbiter was spellbound after this crack.

Connie Shimer, Nazareth High's spectacular quarterback of the past two years, has accepted a scholarship to Yale University.

More than a score of schools have been after Shimer's services before the Ivy League institution (in which Jack Prendergast had a hand) plucked him away.

However, Shimer had a bigger "pusher" for Old Eli in his father who is a graduate of the New Haven school.

Incidentally, Shimer was a straight A student at Nazareth which also helped matters immensely.

Alex Traycheck, the likeable owner of the Indian Mountain Golf Course, near Kresgeville, reports that his nine-hole links is in championship shape again.

"The course is in the best condition in years," Traycheck writes.

The past two weekends has been record turnouts at the Indian Mountain, especially since good weather has been favoring Traycheck and his spouse, Vee.

Lake Harmony, the winningest baseball team in the area, will show for the one and only time in the Stroudsborgs this year, Sunday.

The league-leading and defending Pocono Mountain League team which boasts of 28th consecutive victories over a two-year span, meets Analomink in a regular circuit doubleheader at the East Stroudsborg playground this Sunday.

By the way, Analomink lost the services of catcher Dick Miller for the rest of the season.

In last Sunday's A's tilt with Redders Miller was hit on the hand by the bat of Homer Smith, Redders, out-fielder.

X-rays showed a fracture of the index finger, forcing Miller out of the Analomink lineup.

Bean Ball Rule, Joke To Casey

By Joe Reichler

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel doesn't think much of the new bean ball rule which would result in a $50 fine to a pitcher warned by an umpire for throwing at a batter.

"I not only think it won't work," said the village manager of the New York Yankees, "but I think it's all one huge joke. In fact, the umpires are going to be more reluctant to threaten bean ballers because they won't want to be blamed for costing the pitcher $50."

Stengel, with accompanying gestures and grimaces, proceeded to illustrate his point.

"I was officially notified of the new regulation," he said, "before Saturday's game with Cleveland. The umpires, all four of them, gathered Bragan (Indians' Manager Bobby Bragan) and myself around home plate and explained the new rule. When they were all through, John Stevens, one of the umpires turned to me and said: 'Do you understand it?'"

"I said, 'No, and I don't think you do either.'"

The umpires told Stengel and Bragan that if they even suspected any pitcher of intentionally throwing at a batter, they would give the pitcher an official warning. This was to be reported to the league president, who would then notify the pitcher he had been fined $50.

"The game begins," continued Stengel, "and eventually a kid named Bell comes in to pitch for the other side. He's a little wild, you see, and he doesn't have too much experience. But he knows enough to throw eight balls at my third baseman's head and twice he makes Mickey Mantle skip rope."

"Every time he does this, my guys holler, 'Hey, Stevens, what about that one?'"

"This here Stevens, he don't even turn around. He just pays no attention to anyone and never even says a word to the kid pitcher. Not that I expected him to."

Banks And Green Slugging Batting Averages Over .300

By Ben Olan

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, normally a slow starter, has carried a blazing bat this Spring that has enabled him to move into the National League home run lead while sharing the top spot in runs batted in and a place among the circuit's top 10 batters.

A year ago yesterday, the slugging shortstop had only seven home runs, 21 runs batted in and a batting average of .235. But he finished with a rush, hitting 23 homers in the last two months for a season's total of 43.

Banks walked off home runs last week and now has 17. He also drove in eight runs and is tied in the RBI competition with Frank Thomas of Pittsburgh with 49. Banks is ninth in the batting race at .324. He collected 12 hits in 25 tries last week and climbed 21 points.

Neither Banks nor rookie Gene Green of St. Louis is threatening to spoil the exciting duel for the lead between Stan Musial of the Cardinals and Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants.

Through Sunday's games, Musial had a .418 average followed by Mays with .416.

Green moved into third place as a result of a 40-point pick up to .349. He is followed by Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, who dropped one notch on a 10-point slump to .341.

Because pace-setting Bob Nieman of Baltimore has been out with an injury since June 2, the American League batting race is, more or less, in a state of suspension. None of Nieman's pursuers have been able to move in on Nieman's .367 percentage.

Harvey Kuenn of Detroit is the runner-up with .341, but the Detroit outfielder is sidelined with facial injuries received in a game in Baltimore last Wednesday.

Nellie Fox of Chicago, who held second place a week ago, lost 15 points and fell to third at .337.

The big noise in the American League was made by Jackie Jensen of Boston, Jackie hit four homers and drove in 10 runs to close in on Kansas City's Bob Cerv in both departments.

Cerv had only one homer and three RBIs, putting his totals at 15 homers and 45 runs batted in. Jensen increased his figures to 13 home runs and 40 RBIs.

Redlegs Blank Giants, 3-0 Behind Purkey's Hurling

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bob Purkey pitched his eighth victory and Steve Bilko smashed a 400-foot homer yesterday to give the Cincinnati Redlegs a 3-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Purkey handcufted the Giants on six hits while southpaw Johnny Antonelli was charged with the loss.

The Giants hung precariously to first place by three percentage points as the rest of the National League had the day off.

Only two Giants reached third base off Purkey, a 6-2 curveballer who won his fifth straight. He struck out three and did not issue a walk. He was seldom behind any hitter and saw to it that only six Giants were left on base.

Bilko put his 245 pounds behind Antonelli's fourth inning pitch and the ball hit the top row of the left centerfield bleachers. Pete Whisenant, at first on Jim Finigan's throwing error, scored ahead of Bilko.

Red Sox Win 6 In Row, Beat Tigers

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox swept to their sixth straight victory by defeating the Detroit Tigers 9-4 last night with a six-run third inning featured by Jackie Jensen's 14th homer.

Jensen's three-run blast, a 400-foot hoist into the Boston bullpen in right center, snapped a 2-2 deadlock and helped move the Red Sox into a virtual second place tie with Kansas City, 7½ games behind the front-running New York Yankees.

After Jensen's left into the bullpen, a pair of walks, a double by Don Buddin and a single by Pete Runnels brought in three more runs and gave right hander Frank Sullivan a big cushion.

Sullivan surrendered seven hits and all the Detroit runs in the first four innings, but settled down and allowed only two safeties the rest of the way in gaining his third victory against one loss.

O'Dell Pitches Orioles To 5-2 Win Over Indians

BALTIMORE (AP) — Billy O'Dell pitched almost perfect baseball after a shaky first inning start as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Cleveland Indians 5-2 last night.

The 25-year-old southpaw gave up just two singles in the final 8½ innings and one of those base runners was erased on a double play as O'Dell faced only one batter over the minimum during that span.

After retiring the first two men in the first, O'Dell gave up his only walk of the game to Minnie Minoso, Rocky Colavito followed with a single to center and both runners scored on a double down the left field line by J. W. Porter.

Baltimore got three runs in its half of the first inning to quickly sew up O'Dell's sixth victory in 13 decisions. Gus Triandos knocked his 12th homer into the left field stands after singles by Al Pilarcik and Gene Woodling.

Stroudsburg Jail Houses 88 People

EIGHTY-EIGHT transients were housed in Stroudsburg's borough lockup during the month of May.

Police Chief James F. McConnell said the average for the first four months of the year was 32 a month.

He attributed the increase to unemployment, the opening of resorts in the Poconos and the start of large construction projects in the area.

Looking For Work
McConnell said the lodgers, ranging in age from 20 to 81, are mostly looking for work.

They are accommodated in 10 bunks available in the lockup, or on the floor when overcrowding occurs.

Comparing figures for 1957, McConnell said there were about 15 less sleepers a month from January to April than during the same period this year.

Guard Takes Part In Encampment

MONROE County's two National Guard units—Companies F and G—encamped at Leach Range, north of Scranton, over the weekend.

The two-day required training period was conducted to give the men experience in camping out and to qualify them with the M-1 rifle and other weapons.

Co. F, numbering 84 men, was under the command of First Lt. George Brodhead. There were about 70 men from Co. G which is in command of First Lt. George Sopko.

Weekend Training
Also taking part in the weekend training was Headquarters Co. of Carbondale. All three units will leave Aug. 2 for two weeks' encampment at Indian-town Gap.

The training included firing automatic rifles and training with crew-served weapons such as light machine guns, 60-mm. mortar and 57 recoilless rifles. Flares and tracer bullets were employed during a night demonstration.

Lt. Brodhead said Co. F is interested in enlisting men with prior service in any branch of the armed forces. Its full strength is 106 officers and enlisted men, the same as Co. G.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

For Tuesday, June 10, 1958
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Accuracy, realism and controlled emotions will count heavily today. Keep A.V. Be careful about details.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Your favorable aspect should give you added incentive. Don't wait until "later" to do what should be done NOW.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — For you born a few days before and after the change of Signs, don't make hasty decisions and don't act impulsively. Some changes you have in mind may be excellent, but give them careful thought, nevertheless.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — No "mooning" about now. Excellent aspects encourage your best efforts. But you will have to work hard.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You are to achieve the results you want. July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You are to achieve the results you want.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Whether you achieve immediate gains or not, keep on TRYING! Look forward, not backward.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Fine planetary influences suggest that you press forward in any and all worthwhile activities, but do tackle "firsts" first. Maintain optimism and keep emotions under control.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — It may be difficult to keep your mind on your duties now, but try not to be dissuaded or misled. And do be especially cautious if dealing with strangers.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Attempting to just "get by" won't do now. Such an attitude is not like the real you, so even if you are strongly tempted to let down in your efforts, DON'T. Concentration shown now will be rewarded later.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — "Plan" today is not only a duty but a privilege. You may be tempted to shun some tasks which, while seemingly unimportant, are necessary to the successful completion of a whole project.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Your chart is highly stimulating — encourage the vigor needed to climb toward success levels. Press forward with your ideas and plans.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — There's a tendency now to commit needless errors, to be careless about details, to procrastinate. Forewarned, be on the alert. You can avoid all this confusion.

YIP HORN TODAY have abundant vitality, charm, magnetism; a healthy outlook on life — even until old age, when many others retreat and become irritable. You can visualize constant progress and work for it with imagination and grit. You know people, sense why some things "get on," why others fall. Your intuition and mental keenness fit you for big things. Always go forward; never let anyone discourage you. But don't err through haste or insufficient knowledge. Speedy workers (and you are diligent) can make these mistakes if not on guard. Birthdate: Sir Henry Stanley, noted African explorer; Robert Schuman, Ger. composer.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 6. If the number is less than 6, subtract the number from 6. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

CEMETERY PLOTS

A National survey reveals that less than fifty per cent of people make prior provision for a Cemetery plot. The greater number are too busy, or find too many other expenditure outlets, to face this ultimate issue.

The subject is presented without apology in the conviction that those convinced are benefited, and spared an added burden when the need comes. Booklet, Terms.

New Theater To Open In Area

TWO WEEKS from tonight — on June 24 — a new Summer theatre opens its doors at Ross Common between Saylorburg and Wind Gap on Route 115.

The doors once led into a stable which was used to change carriage horses on the run between the Lehigh and Wyoming Valleys.

During the last two weeks, the "stable" has been converted into a playhouse — and a different kind of playhouse at that.

Called Ross Common Playhouse, the new theatre will put its productions on a "two-sided arena" stage. This means the audience is seated, on elevations, on two sides of the center platform stage.

Steve Dunn, general manager, released a partial schedule of productions for the Summer yesterday.

First Production

Ross Common will open with George Axelrod's "Seven Year Itch." Other productions will include: "A Visit To A Small Planet" by Gore Vidal, July 1-5; "Monique," the story on which the horror movie, "Diabolique" was based, July 8-12; John Van Druten's "I Am A Camera," July 15-19; "The Big Knife," Clifford Odets' expose of inner corruption in Hollywood, July 22-26; "The Moon Is Blue" by F. Hugh Herbert, July 29-Aug. 2; "You Touched Me" by Tennessee Williams, Aug. 5-9 and "Bell, Book and Candle," also by Van Druten, Aug. 12-16.

Producer is Bunker Jenkins and Minot Lee Coombs of the Lafayette College faculty will be the director. Business manager is Buddy Barjeon.

There will be a resident company of 14 persons — six boys and eight girls, according to Dunn. The Ross Common Playhouse phone is listed as Pen Argyl, UNIVERSITY 3-4222.
